OFFICE OF GENERAL COUNSEL
FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION

Dear General Counsel,

It has come to my attention, based on my information and belief, from records maintained and posted on the FEC site: <http://www.fec.gov/disclosurehs/HSContrbTran.do> that a Virginia Republican U.S. Senate Candidate, Bishop Earl Washington Jackson, Sr., appears to have received excessive contributions for the 2012 primary campaign from a resident of Keswick, VA, 22947, Mrs. Elizabeth Chardon Harrigan Jenks. Also, Elizabeth Jenks' sister-in-law, Elizabeth Harrigan, and her niece, Terrell Harrigan, both of Richmond, VA, ostensibly made separate contributions to the campaign of $1,000 and $2,500. By checking 2009 obituaries for Mrs. Jenks' late husband, John Story Jenks, one included below, I was able to conclude that the contributions may all be from one and the same person, the last two possibly laundered through relatives.

On 3/12/12, Elizabeth C. Jenks contributed $1,000 to Mr. Jackson

On 4/18/12, Chardon Jenks contributed $1,000 to Mr. Jackson

On 4/24/12, Chardon Jenks contributed $500 to Mr. Jackson

On 6/11/12, Elizabeth C. Jenks contributed $2,500 to Mr. Jackson

On 6/11/12, Elizabeth Harrington contributed $1,000 to Mr. Jackson

On 6/11/12, Terrell Harrington contributed $2,500 to Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Washington received 4.7% of the votes in the Virginia primary, won by George Allen. He received only $138,000 in total campaign contributions for the race, so there may be $6,000 in excessive contributions that day representing a considerable part of his contributions. Since the campaign received no other contributions on 6/11/12. I expect the candidate and/or his treasurer may have been aware of the attempt to conceal the apparently excessive contributions. Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington has made no other 2011-12 contributions. Mrs. Terrell Harrington contributed $2,500 to Rick Santorum in 2011.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Smith
